STORY OF MY NATURE

The Brechelbath® is a multisensory Thermal Experience room. As steam is released through the oven into a copper funnel the heat is pushed along the copper ceiling and down the guest back whilst they sit on warm curved wooden seats. The optional pine needles on the floor not only release a cleansing aroma, they act as a sensory and antibacterial medium for the feet. The increase in heat is followed by a drop in temperature before the cycle starts again allowing the guest to comfortable enjoy the experience for up to 20 minutes which is beneficial to the cardiovascular system. This is a true wellbeing experience and is a great addition to thermal areas offering a memorable and sustainable experience. The Brechelbath® can be designed as a traditional cabin using copper and old wood or designed as a modern room with the materials of your choice to fit your spa’s decor.
