Hydrosave Colour 7 Automated Vichy Shower (HCAVS) is an electronically controlled shower system that enables individual shower heads to be programmed to operate as and when required throughout treatments. One of the main advantages of this is that shower heads can be activated ahead of the therapist's movements. The showerhead or heads can be timed to sequence over the bathers' body and thus prompting the therapist to follow the shower flow. As opposed to relying upon the therapist to be responsible to maximise the use of the resource. Sequential shower head operation also creates an incredible experience as well as keeping the body warm using as little as one shower head instead of operating all 7 heads - remember that the shower heads can cycle over the body as and when programmed to do so. Of course all showerheads can operate simultaneously and again the timing can be programmed. The ability to run programmes will also enable the therapists a less hands on approach where appropriate - let the shower cycling do some of the wet work! Soundsave is an additional feature to the incredible water saving ability of the programmed shower heads, HydroCo have introduced another first - Soundsave. Soundsave utilizes crisp audio recordings to simulate the shower spray sound. HydroCo's research shows that bathers feel a better experience when the Soundsave system is activated along with the shower head. Recorded sound of water being sprayed to enhance the real water spray fools the bather into believing that considerably more water is flowing over them. So less water and energy can be consumed by fooling the senses. As each shower head is activated the volume of Soundsave increases. In-Room audio can be selected at the control panel and a pre-recorded sound track will play along with the Soundsave audio. Listen to the deep vibrations of a didgeridoo playing in the background and the haunting chants of a tribal female, you will be looking around expecting to see company in the room. Soundsave is enhanced by the HydroColour lighting system - another first! As each shower head activates in program, the shower head pours out a rich soothing pre-selected colour - blue, green, orange etc this not only heightens the bathers experience but also the therapists, you will never want to shower a bather again without HydroColour lighting effect. HydroCo's innovative HCAVS will save water & energy and of course this means the saving of money. The technology HydroCo have developed makes this Vichy Shower system the ultimate experience. It is smart technology and demonstrates that solutions can be found for most problems we as humans create. A Vichy Shower that can consume around 80% less water than a traditional Vichy Shower and without compromising the experience, in-fact enhancing the experience must be of consideration when wet treatments are being introduced in your facility.
